Technology transforms exposures and risk

Businesses operate in a world where technological change is constantly creating new forms of equipment and applications for them. While technological transformation brings many benefits, it changes the risk model dramatically.

Micro-circuitry is now used in almost all types of equipment. It is so sensitive that damage, invisible to the human eye, can cause equipment to suddenly stop working, for no apparent reason.

Portable business equipment, such as laptops and other devices, are now carried in pockets or briefcases across cities, provinces and international borders. As equipment with fragile components travels, breakdown risks increase.

Cloud computing is not fail-safe:

- Almost 60 percent of small to mid-sized businesses using the Cloud reported that at least one interruption to their cloud service prevented their company from functioning.¹
- Business data stored in the cloud is at risk of being lost when there is a breakdown of equipment.

Small businesses are data breach targets and face notification responsibilities

- 43 percent of cyber attacks target small businesses, and the last 5 years have shown a steady increase in attacks targeting businesses with fewer than 250 employees.²
- The Personal Information and Electronic Data Act (PIPEDA) requires businesses to notify affected individuals and the Office of the Privacy Commissioner of Canada of data breaches involving personal information.³

Bad news travels fast

In today's social sharing world, a business interruption caused by an accident can lead to bad publicity and compromise a company's reputation.

All Systems Go Plus[®] with TechAdvantage[®] offers protection against new and emerging risks

Microelectronics coverage for non-detectable damage

Until now, equipment breakdown coverage has required evidence of physical damage. However, today's business equipment, such as heating, cooling, and electronic equipment, contains microelectronics – miniaturized circuitry with parts so tiny, damage is virtually undetectable. TechAdvantage[®] adds a second cause of loss – Electronic Circuitry Impairment, for failures when physical damage is not detectable. Coverage is triggered when covered equipment suddenly stops functioning, and replacing that equipment or part containing electronic circuitry restores functionality.

Off premises transportable equipment

Equipment has become more compact, portable and more frequently used off-premises, where it is exposed to greater risk of damage. All kinds of mobile equipment are at risk, from newer technology such as laptops and devices, to more conventional objects such as compressors and generators. Off premises coverage is provided on transportable equipment for property damage, business income, extra expense and data restoration, anywhere in Canada and USA.

Cloud computing service interruption

Cloud computing services have been added to service interruption coverage, paying for lost business income and extra expenses when an insured's cloud service provider experiences an outage due to equipment breakdown.

Data restoration includes data lost in the cloud due to a breakdown

We already cover data lost due to an accident at the business owner's location. However, a business's data stored in the cloud is also increasingly at risk. In response to this new business risk, we have added data restoration coverage for data lost when it is stored and managed by a cloud computing provider.

Public relations

In our connected world, bad news travels fast. TechAdvantage[®] also includes coverage for services from reputation management professionals, such as a PR firm, when an equipment breakdown poses a risk to a business's good standing. Coverage pays for professional public relations services to help manage a client's reputation that is at risk when a breakdown causes business interruption.

Optional Data Compromise and Identity Recovery

Data Compromise

All businesses are data breach targets. With fewer protections against data breach than large companies, small to mid-sized businesses are more vulnerable and less prepared for the complexity and cost of responding.

Bundled with All Systems Go Plus®, Data Compromise is affordable, covers costs of notifying those affected, and includes valuable professional help to respond promptly and properly to preserve business relationships and reputation.

All Systems Go Plus® Data Compromise covers:

- Legal review for notifying those affected by the breach
- Forensic IT help to determine the extent of the breach and who was affected
- Preparation and production of notification letters to affected individuals
- Notification of the data breach to the Office of the Privacy Commissioner of Canada and regulatory authorities
- Fraud alert for persons affected by the loss of personal information
- Identity restoration case management for identity theft victims
- Public relations services to help respond to the potential impact of the breach on business relations

Identity Recovery

Complex, frustrating and time-consuming, the process of restoring a stolen identity can take an owner's focus off their business. Loans and other activity dependent on the owner's credit may be put on hold, while the restoration process can cost thousands. Identity Recovery not only pays for costs related to restoring identity integrity to pre-theft status, it includes top professional services to help business owners navigate the restoration process faster, with less trouble.

All Systems Go Plus® Identity Recovery covers:

- Various legal fees caused by an identity theft, including civil and criminal defense
- Lost wages and childcare / eldercare expenses due to time away
- Access to identity restoration case managers – investigators who help victims through the process
- A toll-free help line with identity theft counsellors
- Credit bureau reports
- Fees for reapplying for loans declined due to falsified credit information
- Postage, phone, shipping, notary and filing fees and other out-of-pocket costs
